

PRESS RELEASE - Pennsylvania's Secretary of Department of Community and Economic Development visits Klinge Corporation as part Governor Wolf's 'Jobs that Pay' Tour

April 20, York, PA

Klinge Corporation was delighted to host Secretary Dennis Davin, appointed in 2015 by Governor Tom Wolf. Through the 'Jobs that Pay' tour, Governor Wolf has focused on creating jobs that support manufacturing and other growth industries in order to rebuild the middle class.

"Manufacturing is the backbone of Pennsylvania, injecting $85 billion into our economy each year - and Klinge Corporation is an important partner," said Department of Community and Economic Development (DCED) Secretary Dennis Davin.

"The Global Access Program funding administered through DCED's Office of International Business Development has helped Klinge increase its international presence. On behalf of DCED and Governor Tom Wolf, I am thrilled to partner with companies like Klinge, which embody the spirit and legacy of Pennsylvania manufacturers."

He was joined by Joseph Burke, Deputy Secretary of International Business Development, along with the media/press team.

During the visit, Klinge Corporation provided an overview of their 33 year history in the Transport Refrigeration and Freezing industry. The company began as a spin-off of York-Borg Warner Refrigeration. Since then, the company has continually designed and manufactured innovative and sophisticated Transport Refrigeration and Freezer Containers for a number of sectors including:

- Chemical
- Bulk Liquids/Tank
- Pharmaceutical/Medical

- Military
- Seafood/Meat Processing
- Oil & Gas

Klinge Corporation gave Secretary Davin and Secretary Burke a tour of their newly expanded production facilities. Covering 54,000 square feet/5,000 square meters, the manufacturing space features easy to maintain painted floors, walls and ceilings. In addition, the manufacturing area includes new testing room, management offices, and welding and fabrication areas. This space is in addition to the other 7,000 square meters of warehouse, installation, and office space.

For further information, please read the Department of Community and Economic Development press release: Secretary Davin Continues 'Jobs that Pay' Tour, Outlining Governor Wolf's Job Creation Initiatives at Klinge Corporation in York